OUR HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

Reshebile Aviation and Protection Services (RAPS) was founded in 2001 by means of a merger between IEPS Protection Services and Zonkizizwe Security Services Pty Ltd. The company is 100% black owned and managed with the board of directors comprising of Mr P.M. Langa (Chairperson), Mrs G.N. Shope, Mr K.L. Mazibuko, and Mr D. Moopeloa. RAPS is one of the biggest security companies in South Africa offering security solutions to wide range of clients that include; government departments, commercial entities, educational institutions, and private clients. The security industry is regulated by Private Security Industry Regulatory Authority (PSIRA) via a mandate which derives from the Private Security Industry Regulatory Act 56 of 2001. The primary objective of the authority is to regulate the private security industry and to exercise effective control over the practice of the occupation of security service provider in the public and national interest and the interest of the private security industry itself.

The company has eight offices around South Africa with a staff complement of over 2000. Over the years RAPS has diversified from physical guarding to other innovative security services. RAPS's management and staff has vast knowledge and experience in the industry with over 30 years collectively in the security industry. The company offers comprehensive security solutions to a wide range of clients. The company offers quality services such as physical guarding, VIP protection, K9 dog unit, armed escorting, CCTV surveillance, parking control, 24-hour armed response, security risk assessments, investigations, training and development, crowd control, and event management. The future plans for the company include broadening security offerings to a wide range of clients i.e. advanced surveillance technology and cyber security.
